The Spring Debut of Corinne — The New Yellow Carnation for 58

Good yellow carnations are at a premium in all markets and growers everywhere have been waiting for a good yellow variety to be introduced. Two years ago a lovely clear yellow sport of Sim was discovered in the greenhouses of Corazzini Brothers in Lexington, Massachusetts. CORINNE was carefully developed and watched. It was exhibited on several occasions, receiving an Award of Merit at the New England Carnation Growers Assn. New Varieties Day. Everyone who has seen it has been enthusiastic about it. It is the best yellow variety available with which we are familiar.

This variety was turned over jointly to the Sim Carnation Company for further development, and for dissemination. A large mother block of strong, clean plants is being developed, and CORINNE will be ready for distribution May 1, 1958. Orders are now being taken and will be filled in rotation. This variety will be restricted under growers agreement until May 1960. Cuttings can be purchased through Corazzini Bros., Lexington, Massachusetts, or Sim Carnation Company, Saugus, Massachusetts, or through your carnation cutting jobber.

The color is a clear, soft light yellow. It is a truer yellow than other sports of Sim which have been introduced. CORINNE does not darken in the winter as other yellow varieties, and although it becomes lighter in the summer, it still retains its attractive, clear yellow color. It has all the desirable qualities of the parent variety, being a clean and rapid grower, and a heavy producer of fine flowers which split very little and which ship and keep splendidly.
